

Welcome to VirtualMed Staff's monthly newsletter!

This newsletter is an opportunity to stay connected with you, our partners, providers, and associates, by sharing recent content, company news, and updates on upcoming events. We hope you find the included information helpful and informative and we're looking forward to sharing more in the coming months. If you have any questions or suggestions for content you would like to see featured in future editions, please let us know.

A Message From Our President, Jack Williams

With so much still feeling so chaotic, I thought for our May mailer it might be a benefit to get a brief look at what emergent Telepsychiatry has looked like over the last 5+ months.

READ MORE

An Update About The ATA Virtual Conference

Due to the impact of COVID-19, conferences across the U.S. are going virtual to protect the health and safety of attendees. So, what does that mean for VirtualMed Staff?

As conferences adapt to this new environment, VMS is adopting a new virtual strategy to remain competitive and engaged with our telemedicine partners and those in attendance. In other words, VirtualMed is going virtual.

Our virtual strategy will include:

- Strategic marketing videos to educate, engage, and connect with virtual attendees
- Specific landing pages for each conference event where attendees can request meetings directing with our sales team
- Conference marketing materials created specifically for a virtual environment
- Online advertisements to put the VirtualMed name directly in front of our target attendees
- And much more

We want to assure everyone that VirtualMed Staff is doing everything possible to adapt to the changes over these past few months. We anticipate more conferences to go virtual in the coming months and are prepared to adjust our strategy accordingly, but we're excited to deliver on our promise to enable providers to See more patients™ and sustain healthy communities.

Perspective: COVID-19 Q&A Session with Therapist Matt Driggers

The fallout from the coronavirus pandemic has made a dramatic impact on all our lives, especially our mental health. As stress, anxiety, and loneliness become more commonplace while we adjust to the changes in our daily lives, it's important to find ways to communicate these feelings and find healthy ways to cope. We spoke with therapist Matthew Driggers who specializes in helping patients better manage grief, life transitions, and moving past feelings of isolation and loneliness about how to alleviate some of the stress and triggers brought on by COVID-19.

READ MORE

How Telepsychiatry Supports Healthcare Systems During the Psychiatric Patient Surge

Psychiatric patients are delaying treatment due to fears around COVID-19, leading many healthcare systems anticipating a surge in mental health related cases. Here's how telepsychiatry can support healthcare systems and address many of the upcoming challenges.

READ MORE

Is Telepsychiatry Right For You as a Provider?

Here's a look at the benefits of practicing telepsychiatry and the commitment VirtualMed has to its partners when qualifying candidates.

READ MORE

Quality care delivery that powers future growth.

GET STARTED